OFFICIAL PRESS RELEASE: CLARIFICATION OF MY PROPHECY
MISREPRESENTED BY THE NEWS REGARDING SOUTH AFRICA, MISSILE ATTACKS, ELON MUSK & SANCTIONS

Dear South Africa,

In recent days, several media outlets have published articles referencing a prophetic message I released earlier this year. Unfortunately, the way portions of that message have been quoted and framed has significantly altered its original meaning and intent.

This has created a public impression that I predicted a literal missile attack on South Africa in July, or that I am advocating for destruction or instability within the nation. That is categorically incorrect.

For the sake of clarity:

At no point in my written prophecy did I state that a physical missile attack would occur.

In a separate video recording, I described a symbolic vision—something like an arrow or missile striking South Africa. However, within the same context, I clearly explained that what I was seeing was not a literal physical attack, but a form of pressure or impact. I immediately connected this to potential economic or geopolitical strain, including sanctions or financial disruption. This is evident to anyone who listens to the full, unedited message.

For full transparency, the original video is available here:

The central message of the prophecy was never destruction; it was intercession. It was a call to the Church of South Africa to unite in prayer, humility, and spiritual responsibility, with the clear understanding that the outcomes shown were conditional and could be averted.

This is a consistent biblical pattern: warning is given so that response can change the outcome.

All prophetic words I release are publicly documented, time-stamped, and archived. Over the years, there have been instances where national-level warnings I prophesied and predicted aligned with later events, such as where I prophesied Covid-19 and lockdown measures to the date, the formation of the Government of National Unity a year in advance, and the passing of Ps Ray McCauley to the month, a year in advance.

This is not mentioned to elevate myself, but to establish that my ministry operates with accountability and a track record that can be examined.

I want to address another point clearly:

I am not politically aligned with any party, ideology, or movement. I do not operate from a political agenda. My position is intentionally apolitical so that I can speak without bias and remain faithful to what I believe God is communicating, regardless of which direction it may challenge.

This message has already reached leaders across different political spaces, and some have responded favorably by committing to prayer for the nation. That alone reflects the true spirit of the prophecy.

Please take note of a few phrases I mentioned. I stated that the Lord told me that after the passing of Ps Ray, we are again at a 1994 moment. This is in reference to Ps Ray's role in the dismantling of apartheid. Then, just last week, we saw Elon Musk make a post referring to "Apartheid 2.0." This does not mean I agree with that statement, but I am simply highlighting what appears to be unfolding in alignment with the themes of the prophecy. A symbolic statement pointing to a season of national redefinition and decision, not a political alignment.

I also made reference to July, mentioning the possibility of sanctions, increased pressure on businesses, and growing economic difficulty. Recently, we have seen calls for sanctions not only from Elon but from various other voices as well. In addition, the President signed new legislation this week that might place further restrictions on businesses engaging with government.

Let me state this as clearly as possible:

I am not calling for collapse of South Africa. I am actually for transformation and unity of the nation.

As much as I am not aligning with any political party, I am also not aligning with external political pressures against South Africa. This is my country which I love!

I am calling the Church to prayer.

The original message warned of increasing pressure; economic, social, and spiritual, if there is no unified response. It also declared that these outcomes can be changed, diverted, or entirely overturned through sincere intercession and national unity within the Body of Christ.

My appeal is simple and unchanged:

Church of South Africa: This is a moment to rise in unity, humility, and prayer. Not division. Not fear. Not speculation. But focused, collective intercession for the future of this nation.

For full context, I strongly encourage the public to read the original written prophecy in its entirety, as released on 16 January 2026:

HERE BELOW IS THE ORIGINAL WRITTEN PROPHECY THAT WENT OUT TO SOUTH AFRICA ON THE 16th of JANUARY 2026, READ BY OVER 1 MILLION PEOPLE WITHIN 24 HRS.

URGENT PROPHETIC ADDRESS TO SOUTH AFRICA AND TO PASTORS & LEADERS - 16 January 2026

To fellow believers and ministers in South Africa, I come to you with an urgent message:

My name is Leon du Preez. I operate in the prophetic office. This message is not for attention, promotion, or fear but for obedience. By God's grace, the Lord has entrusted me with national warnings in the past that later proved accurate, including Covid and the GNU et al. These are recorded and public. Each came with the same pattern: a holy burden, repeated visions, and an urgency that would not release me until I obeyed. For this reason, I cannot remain silent.

I come to you as a brother in Christ, asking you to weigh this word prayerfully before the Lord.

South Africa is at a tipping point. We are at the precipice of a major political and spiritual reshaping, aligned with a global shift. We are entering a new era.

In the months leading up to New Year's Eve, the Lord spoke clearly to me:

"South Africa will cry many tears. There is fire ahead if My people do not respond. This is a warning, not a sentence. My Church has not yet risen. She has been divided while the nation is being captured."

I saw people losing hope. I saw businesses under pressure. I saw many preparing to leave the country. I saw more children dying of hunger and unemployment exploding.

The Lord said the next THREE MONTHS are critical. He is calling the Church of South Africa to urgent, unified prayer for the nation, for the government, for hidden traps, for geopolitical alignment, and for our hearts toward one another.

The Church has tolerated division for too long, fragmentation instead of unity, reaction instead of true intercession. I include myself in this correction.

The Lord says:

"If My people will pray earnestly, I will turn the coming calamity. I will change what has been set in motion. I will shift epochs, remove those who must be removed, and establish those who must be established. South Africa will witness one of the greatest reforms since 1994 even before 2029."

After the passing of Ps. Ray McCauley, the Lord told me:

"You are again at a 1994 moment. The passing of my servant was by design, not chance. South Africa, you are again at 1994. What will My people choose this time?"

The Lord showed me that credible leaders, young and old, must rise now and must make it clear that the Church is not silent or powerless, but committed to rebuilding this nation.

If the Church delays, great pressure will come this year, as early as July. Businesses will suffer, the economy will shake, and many will flee and lose heart.

The Lord says:

"This warning is not My plan but it is the result of a nation without the Church's involvement. South Africa, you are the eye of Africa. As My people humble themselves, lay down differences, and pray. See how I can turn calamity into restoration. I will expose every ambush, divert sanctions, tariffs and even war that is lurking at your door. You will not see bloodshed, and the world will witness the renewal of this nation by 2029."

I urge pastors, leaders, and churches to set aside focused time for prayer for South Africa and for its government. Privately and corporately, let us respond together.

God's purpose for this nation is great, and the future is bright when the Church rises. May we have ears to hear what the Spirit is saying to the Church in South Africa.

Your fellow labourer in the Gospel,
Leon du Preez
